Business and civic experience

The past two years of my professional life has involved community and worker advocacy throughout Charlotte. The untimely death of fallen operator, Ethan Rivera, caused me to answer the 'clarion call' that rang ever so loudly across the city, 'I could not ignore'. Safety is a key element in the successful operation of any community. When workers, operators are shot and killed on the job, I do not feel the city has a right to rest until the workers and streets are safe for our public servants. THIS IS NOT ACCEPTABLE, and a change must take place! Over the past three years, as a former resident in the Cherry Community, I organized the Cherry Community Connection Cookout which was an effort to bridge the gap between the old and new neighbors of Cherry. The economic wealth gap was an eyesore to the original Cherry residents. I organized the event as an effort to identify ways to strengthen the ties within the neighborhood. The change and growth had already taken place, our messaging was, it would be a benefit to the community as a whole to find common ground. We successfully did that for the three years the event was held. There were some deep lasting relationships that were built which carries my work still today in the area. My civic responsibilities are most important to me and it is a role I do not take lightly. A great work has begun, and I look forward to the opportunity to continue it, if granted. As a project manager, I understand the importance of time management, risks and opportunities. My role often times leads me to operate in a role where I am supporting leadership development of workers and handraisers of the community. The position often times calls for statewide strategy implementations and analysis of the outcome. However, working closely with the community is the main priority I hold when approaching any assignment. Once an organization understands the needs of the people they serve, ensuring they always hold space in room they may not physically be in is and always will be a focus of mine.

Area of expertise and interests/skills

It has been said I am like a magnet, people are magnetized towards me; It is undoubtedly true. I absolutely love being in community with others, especially when the interaction is progressive and producing sustainable solutions. As a communications major, moving and working the room is what I do effortlessly. I consider myself the great communicator, one who is able to hear the words that are never spoken. It affords me the ability to hear the important missing pieces of the conversation. As an activist/ advocate, I often tell people this isn't paper and plastic this is purpose and passion. I am a Charlottean born and raised, graduate of Myers Park High School. My city means the world to me and I look forward to serving my city in one capacity or another. The safety of the commuters and operators is directly related to housing, economic equality and other categories that are impacted when the residents can't arrive safely to their employer. Saying that, I have been involved in the labor movement for over five years now, and I have held hundreds of conversations with people. Once someone masters effective communication, the possibilities are endless; I have done just that. Thankfully, I am able to speak with anyone, at any given time, and talk about mostly anything. It is an effective organizing skill and I use it to the fullest everyday. Charlotte has changed tremendously in the past 20 years. I grew up in Southside homes, riding the city bus almost everyday; route#16 South Tryon. What happens on the buses, at the bus stops, concerns me. If it weren't for public transportation, I am not where I am. What commuters are facing today onboard isn't what I endured years ago. Every rider deserves a safe ride. If someone pays their fare, then we have an obligation and duty to care. The bus stops throughout the city need dire attention and some are unsafe for our elderly population. As a former caregiver, they hold a special place in my heart and we must ensure they are taken care of during their golden season and feel safe while maintaining their independence. Project management, former UPSER and CATS Operator, activist and advocate, civil servant and passionate native of Charlotte, I bring a wide variety of skills and expertise to this space. I also bring a spirit of openness to learning new things. As a veteran in the United States Army, my interest in transportation began there as a 88M. It was there I established convoy knowledge, tactical support, logistical planning and various management tools that I still commonly practice today. It would be a honor to serve, I do however, bring a wealth of knowledge to this space.

Additional Information

If you are or have ever served on a Mecklenburg County board/commission, please answer yes or no. If yes, please disclose the Board and term-end date.

Yes. I am a former member of CTAG, and I have been serving in that role the past two years. It is in part my motivations to wanting to participate on this new board.

Why are you interested in serving on the board(s) to which you are applying?

Two years ago, the city underwent a shift when Operator Ethan Rivera was shot and killed while on the job. During that time, it was a lot moving and there were moments where I felt totally connected to the people in my city. Everyone I love is here, or their bones resting somewhere throughout. It was that time, I was proud of what I was doing for MY city. Operators as well community members were looking to me for answers, and they still do. It is my duty, it is my role and responsibility to continue to seek those out. As a former CATS operator, I hold a deep connection to the work from various perspectives. The community knows my face, they trust what I do and why I do it. And that makes me want to continue the work ensuring the people who trust me are safe during their day to day.

Have you attended a meeting of the advisory board(s) to which you are applying?

Occupation

Business and civic experience

I have a deep passion for improving mobility and equity in our communities, supported by extensive business and civic engagement. Professionally, I founded Shades of Moss, a houseplant boutique that thrived as a local business in Charlotte in 2020 while fostering meaningful community engagement. This experience sharpened my skills in customer service, outreach, and building connections—skills I have successfully applied to impactful transportation advocacy. Queen City Nerve nominated us as the best plant shop in Charlotte in 2020 and 2021. We have since dissolved the business to pursue other opportunities. Civically, my involvement deepened after graduating from the Charlotte Civic Leadership Academy (Cohort 9). Since then, I have served on the boards of RVA Rapid Transit and the Partnership for Smarter Growth, where I played key roles in campaigns to improve transit accessibility and urban mobility. My advocacy efforts have led to tangible policy changes, including extending fare-free transit in Richmond and eliminating parking minimums to support sustainable development. Additionally, my tactical urbanism initiatives and speaking engagements with organizations like NACTO and the Congress for the New Urbanism further amplified efforts to create safer, more equitable streets for all users. These experiences have equipped me with a strong foundation in community engagement and policy advocacy while demonstrating my commitment to leveraging transportation as a tool for economic opportunity and environmental justice.

Area of expertise and interests/skills

My areas of interest include urban mobility, sustainable transportation, and equitable city design, with a focus on creating vibrant, connected communities. I am skilled in government relations and adept at fostering bipartisanship, which I honed through the Sorensen Institute Political Leadership Program. My expertise extends to community engagement, policy advocacy, and strategic storytelling to inspire action and build consensus. I am passionate about using transportation as a catalyst for economic opportunity, environmental justice, and improved quality of life for all.

Additional Comments

Advocacy for public transit and equity is at the heart of my work, driven by a deep belief that mobility is a fundamental right. I am passionate about creating transit systems that prioritize young families and other vulnerable populations, ensuring they have access to safe, reliable, and affordable transportation. By centering the needs of these groups, I strive to build more inclusive communities where everyone has the opportunity to thrive.

Additional Information

If you are or have ever served on a Mecklenburg County board/commission, please answer yes or no. If yes, please disclose the Board and term-end date.

Additional Comments

In 2007 I had a car accident resulting in a serious head injury. Since my recovery I have used the CATS buses to commute uptown daily, except during the pandemic when I worked from home. I remember a time when the buses were so full there was standing room only, and I'm aware managing CATS has become very difficult since the pandemic. I am applying to this committee because this issue is personal for me so this is a way I would like to contribute my community. I still ride the buses almost daily and plan to continue doing so. Not only would I bring more than 15 years customer experience to the committee, but I also have a personal stake in the future of Charlotte's buses.
